Just when you get there follow the bicycles or get on Grindr it's that easy. I'm gay and usually get drugs before I get sick when I go to do places not because I try but that's what gets offered first grinder is that useful otherwise I go to Winn-Dixie" -- M. Barret Floore.

My stalker – bless his heart – has tried to make a grand statement by sending emails to... well, you, because surprise! He only managed to identify one single email address in my entire family. What a detective, right? The rest of the addresses he used? Long dead or not even connected to our family. Bravo, Sherlock.

I'll text you privately, but for now, just block him and move on with your day. He's been sending his rants to an email with "stop race science" in the name – because of course, nothing says "I'm really onto something" like that.

> And in case you're curious: the person behind this account? Probably in prison right now. Why? Oh, because he's so clever that we can't even track his IP address anymore. Isn't that just tragic? Watch what happens next, though. He'll try to act all smug, throw around "Barry my boy" like it's a clever nickname, and generally lose his mind. If you'd like to sit back and watch the show, by all means, do so. Just stay silent. Don't give him any info, because that's what he lives for – feeding off the crumbs of validation, whether positive or negative.

> By the way he claims being constant contact with Sandra and is talking to her about my behavior somehow. He also thinks Carol Dorsey is important to our family tree. He's very concerned about what Carol Dorsey thinks about us and so he's been in contact with her communicating very effectively about what Sandra thinks about me and what y'all should think about carol. If anyone knows who Carol Dorsey he'd be interested to know who that person is and more importantly if anyone can get a hold of Sandra I think we'd all like to speak to her first . To get a one-on-one with Sandra as soon as possible I'll invite all of you to the meeting. With a zoom link look for it. And Carol I can't get a hold of her she's indisposed for a long time now. If anyone has her current phone number I would be glad to get a hold of him her for him I think the old ownership of Dad's house would like to speak to Carol as well. She's very dear to them I understand

Text me when you get this it's it just gets weird and weird. Do not feed the beast. We have verified that everything he tells you I accidentally slipped or he found on the background ✔ you'll notice he has no idea what your out addresses are. He's going to find you on social media watch out for new social texts delm people you don't know I think he might know me but I don't think he's really does I think he's at Randall from a telegram group who just has gone a ape s. Everything he says has been said by me before an accident or let something slip or he's not on the background check that's called up the available. To give you an idea of how deep he's gone he is quoting in some messages the Cincinnati protest from 2005 that's when he claims to have met me or and then he goes back further to Miami days so I don't know how little he has to do with his life he claims to be marriage anyways
